Are You Sure You Want to Withdraw?

We want you to be successful and meet your academic goals. Check your resources before withdrawing:

Talk with your instructor!

- If you think you are failing your class, talk with your instructor first. It never hurts to ask.
- Your grade may not be as low as you think, or your instructor might be able to help connect you with learning assistance or direct you to campus resources that can help you pass your class.
- You may be able to make arrangements to make up missed work, depending on the circumstances.

Talk with an advisor!

- Advisors can help connect you with resources or provide strategies for study and test anxiety.
- Advisors can also help connect you with community resources (food and housing, transportation, etc.).
- Crisis/Personal Counseling – Don't let an unexpected life event stop you from finishing your class. Counselors in the Bailey Building can help you determine if withdrawing is the right choice. They can also help you access community resources to help you get through the challenges you are experiencing.
- Accommodations/ Classroom Assistance – If you had extended test times or other help in high school, you may qualify for accommodations. Let us know if you need assistance, and we'll see what's available to you!
