Letter from the Vice President

abtech.edu/ce

Letter from the Vice President: Deborah Bailey

This is probably the most challenging message I have composed since I arrived at A-B Tech in January of 2020. Hurricane Helene was the second major tragedy and disruption to education after COVID -19 that we have experienced in our area in the last four years. While COVID-19 had us all sheltering at home, Hurricane Helene devastated many of our shelters and homes.

Steven Covey, in his forward in Servant Leadership by Robert Greenleaf, states that the “deepest part of human nature is that which urges people -each of us- to rise above our present circumstances and to transcend our common nature.” While some positions come with the expectation of leadership, leadership in practice comes from many different people and doesn’t require titles. Leadership is the raised hand that says I will do that, or in the truck that pulls up unsolicited and asks where to deliver items. It is the students who organize themselves to collect goods and deliver them to neighborhoods that they don’t live in, it’s the colleague that brings lunch for everyone in the room. Leadership is the person who smiles through the exhaustion and says, you sit, I can handle this one.

Leadership is not a competition or a spotlight that screams look at me – see what I am doing. Servant leadership says that the great leader is seen as servant first (Greenleaf, 1977).

I am so impressed with the leadership actions of my colleagues and that of our students, staff and community in these difficult times. We have physically been the community’s college since September 27, hosting two shelters and EMS services on our main campus, a FEMA village at A-B Tech Woodfin, a host of disaster relief services and Marshall Town Hall offices at A-B Tech Madison, and debris removal and food distribution at A-B Tech Enka. We know that we have a long road of recovery ahead of us but know that we won’t stop raising our hand and asking what we can do to help.

To our students and partners, we are making every effort to reschedule classes that were missed, add new classes and programs that will help our community recover, and distribute disaster relief funds to help students stay on track. You are the reason we do this work.

In service,

Deborah D. Bailey

Vice President, Economic & Workforce Development and Continuing Education

Disaster Relief Funds Available for Continuing Education Students!

These funds can help with transportation, textbooks, tuition, fees, and living expenses, helping students stay on track with their educational goals.

LEAN Six Sigma Green Belt

This LEAN Six Sigma Green Belt training course provides hands-on participation in an extensive simulation of a substantive LEAN Six Sigma project. The 88-hour course (1 day/week; 11 weeks total) teaches and prepares individuals to implement the principles, practices and techniques of LEAN Six Sigma in a support capacity on a Black Belt project team or leader on smaller projects. Green Belts are traditionally Lead process stakeholders and may also be assigned specific process-level improvement projects to conduct on their own--projects that normally do not require the statistical rigor demonstrated by a Black Belt. This course does, however, provide a significant introduction to the statistical tools, graphical analysis and data-collection strategies often only found in a Black Belt class. Course will provide in-class use of Minitab statistical software.

Community Partnerships

The months since September 27 rattled our community in a way that we have never experienced. The hurricane and preceding storm were a once in a hundred-year event, but the coming together of our community is equally important and what I will remember along with the devastating impact of the storm.

A-B Tech is forever thankful for the wonderful partnerships we have formed over the years, and for the new ones we were able to form following the storm. Working in partnership with organizations like Land of Sky, Goodwill, Asheville Chamber of Commerce, ABCCM, NCWorks, Mountain BizWorks, the Golden Leaf Foundation, Manna Food Bank, the Red Cross, Eblen, United Way and others, we were able to collaborate on funding, resources, and events to help with the region's recovery efforts.

We also appreciate new partners like our community college colleagues across the state, especially the colleges that adopted A-B Tech and will continue to support our efforts long-term. We had water delivered from Charlotte Motor Speedway, and other goods delivered by friends who pulled up in a pickup truck. Additionally, we have received funding from the state to help with emergency funds, as well as scholarship dollars to help our students.

Whether you are returning to finish what you started before the hurricane or want to retool with some new skills to help restart your career and/or help rebuild our community, know that there are many partners in the community standing by to make your transition easier.

In partnership,
Deborah D. Bailey
Vice-President, Economic & Workforce Development and Continuing Education

Continuing Education course expenses are set per course and Curriculum course expenses are per semester up to an allowable amount. An individual is encouraged to complete a two-year degree within the two years for continued coverage. Ana Robinson – Kiwi Glow

What is your business?

Kiwi Glow is a line of truly natural moisturizing oils that nourish and hydrate the skin using the transformative power of organic sesame oil. Built on the foundation of clean, non-toxic skincare, offering a holistic and healthy alternative to mainstream products. All of our skincare products are made in the US, hand blended and never outsourced.

Why did you start your business?

Kiwi Glow began after I discovered all the toxic chemicals in commercial skincare products. I began researching natural alternatives but couldn't find anything that was both non-toxic and effective, while also being enjoyable to use. So, I started making my own skincare using organic sesame oil, and that's how Kiwi Glow was born. Initially, I never intended to create a business—it grew naturally from my passion for working with oils, and since it is such an amazing product, it had to be shared.

How has the A-B Tech SBC assisted you?

The A-B Tech Small Business Center (SBC) Incubation program has been a game changer for my business. Being self-taught, I've always been confident in creating an incredible product, but I honestly didn't know much about the business side. In hindsight, I can see that I did things backwards. Through SBC, I'm now building a strong foundation and gaining a deeper understanding of the fundamentals of running a business.

Before joining, I often felt like I was rushing through everything, almost feeling like I was failing because I wasn't moving fast enough. The four-year incubation program has helped me slow down and realize that building a business, like Kiwi Glow, takes time and steady growth.

I'm incredibly grateful for the support and resources that SBC offers. There are so many free seminars and workshops, and I attend as many as possible, learning something new each time. The incubation program also provides affordable office space at A-B Tech, which creates a reassuring sense of community. It feels like being part of a team, and the staff at SBC are always supportive and available.

What is the most challenging aspect of owning a business?

The most challenging aspect of owning a business, for me, is staying focused on my goals without getting distracted by the many other demands that come with being a solopreneur. I often feel like running a business is basically jumping hurdles—once you clear one, there's always another waiting. It takes a lot of discipline to maintain that focus and keep moving toward each new milestone while balancing everything else that needs attention.

What kind of progress have you made on a business and/or personal level since you started working with the SBC?

One of the most valuable aspects has been the ability to have a one-on-one coach who keeps me accountable and helps me stay on track with my goals. This program has been invaluable in guiding me to expand my business and make informed decisions for the future.

What advice would you give aspiring entrepreneurs?

My advice to aspiring entrepreneurs is to seek guidance early on and explore all your local resources. There's a wealth of support available—talk to someone at the Small Business Center (SBC) or SCORE, take their courses and attend networking events like '1 Million Cups' to mingle with other entrepreneurs. Learning from the experiences and challenges of others is invaluable.

Is there anything that you want people to know about you or your business that they may not already know?

We hope to eventually grow our own sesame in Western North Carolina, creating local jobs in the process.

For locals, Kiwi Glow offers discounts and even delivers within the Asheville area.

If anyone is interested in carrying Kiwi Glow products in their local stores, I'd love to connect, so please feel free to reach out to me.
